Faculty of Nursing

Subject: Ph.D. Qualifying Examination Schedule and Instruction for Students Cohort 2023

-----

The written and oral qualifying examinations are required for all doctoral students to demonstrate their depth and breadth of knowledge and their ability to clearly articulate this knowledge regarding areas of nursing science and research methodology. The students cohort 2023 should follow the following instruction to complete the examination.

Written examination

May 23-24, 2024 each student must fill out the form of GR35 via online system;

June 10, 2024, each student will receive exam questions and name list of the appointed qualifying examination committee and their e-mail addresses;

June 14, 2024, each student submits the exam by 4 pm to the appointed qualifying examination committee via e-mail; and a report of originality checking (excluding bibliography) with similarity  $\leq 20\%$  (using the Turnitin program) must be attached.

Oral examination

A two-hour oral examination will be held during June 24 - July 12, 2024. Date and time for the oral examination will be scheduled by the appointed qualifying examination committee for each student.

Announcement of examination result

July 19, 2024

If a student fails the qualifying examination, he/she will have one more time to re-take the exam. The student must retake the exam within six months after the first exam. According to Mahidol University Regulations on Graduate Studies B.E. 2563, if a student fails the second qualifying examination, the Program Chair must bring this issue to the Administrative Program Committee for final resolution on the either one of the followings:

- 1) Propose the expiry of the student status to Dean of Faculty of Graduate Studies, or
- 2) Propose the change of program level from Doctoral Degree Program to Master's Degree Program in Nursing or related field to Dean of Faculty of Graduate Studies.
